- Swedish customs form (TV740.41 issue Feb 22 2012, Swedish version or TV740.42 issue May 22, English version)

Customs exemption is granted for goods other than spirits, liquors, wines, export beers and tobacco products if they are presented for customs clearance by or on behalf of a person who:

- Migrants from abroad without having been domiciled in Sweden previously or has been or is domiciled in Sweden and immigrates or returns to this country after having stayed abroad for at least one year
- Are owned by the person for whom they are given customs clearance
- Are found not to be in excess of the needs of the owner and his household
- Constitute household necessities or have been used abroad by the owner or a member of his household
- Are to be used in this country by the owner or a member of his household
- Goods must arrive within one year after person has formally moved into Sweden

PLEASE NOTE:

Returning person:

Client must be in Sweden and have registered domicile in Sweden in order to get duty exemption.

The Customs form must be presented to the Customs authorities with original signature.

Please contact your destination agent to get the latest versions of the customs forms.

Diplomats Removals

Documents required:

- Permit from the Swedish Foreign Department (TV.740.22)

Duty free entry.

For Diplomat shipments, the Embassy they represent must complete, stamp and sign an "Application For Duty Free Import" and sent it to the Swedish Foreign Ministry for approval (stamped). If approved, it is fine to bring alcohol without customs duty, alcohol tax and Swedish VAT. Your destination agent will need this application in original as well.

Wedding Trousseaux

Importation prohibited as per the Washington Convention for endangered species.

General Information on the Kingdom of Sweden

Background

A military power during the 17th century, Sweden has not participated in any war in almost two centuries. An armed neutrality was preserved in both World Wars. Sweden's longsuccessful economic formula of a capitalist system interlarded with substantial welfare elements was challenged in the 1990s by high unemployment, and in 2000-2002 by the global economic downturn, but fiscal discipline over the past several years has allowed the country to weather economic vagaries. Sweden joined the EU in 1995, but the public rejected the introduction of the Euro in a 2003 referendum.

Geography

Sweden the largest most populous of the Scandinavian countries, occupies the eastern part of the peninsula in North Europe and borders the North and Baltic seas and Gulf of Bothnia. Forested mountains cover the northern half of the country, part of which lies within the Arctic Circle. Southwards is a lowland lake region, where most of the population lives. Farther south is an upland region, and then a fertile plain in at the tip of the peninsula. Natural resources include coniferous forests, mineral deposits and water resources. There is little agriculture, though some dairy products, meat, cereals and vegetables are produced in the south. The forests supply timber for export and for the important pulp, paper and furniture industries. Sweden is an important producer of iron ore and copper, zinc, lead, silver and gold are also mined. Machinery and transport equipment, chemicals, electrical goods and telecommunications equipment are the main industries. The majority of trade is with other EU countries.

Climate

Sweden has warm summers and cold winters, though the latter are longer and more severe in the north. Natural hazards are ice flows in the surrounding waters, especially in the Gulf of Bothnia, can interfere with maritime traffic.

Environmental Issues

Acid rain damages the soil and lakes. There is pollution in the North sea and the Baltic sea.

Population

It is estimated at 9 million.

Currency

Is the Swedish Crown (SEK) (Swedish Krona).

- Coins 1, 5, 10 Krona
- And 50 ore is half a Krona 100 ore is 1 Krona
- Notes 20, 50, 500, 1000 Krona

Economy

Sweden has achieved an enviable standard of living with its combination of free-market capitalism and extensive welfare benefits. Sweden remains outside the euro zone largely out of concern that joining the European Economic and Monetary Union would diminish the country's sovereignty over its welfare system. Timber, hydropower, and iron ore constitute the resource base of an economy heavily oriented toward foreign trade.

Economic growth slowed in 2013, as a result of continued economic weakness in Sweden's European trading partners; Sweden's economy experienced modest growth in 2014-15, with real GDP growth above 2%, but continues to struggle with deflationary pressure.

Education

Swedish schools are divided into lagstadiet, mellanstadiet, hogstadiet and gymnasium. Lagstadiet is grades 1-4, mellan is 4-9, hogstadiet is 7-9 and gymnasium is 10-12. Grades 10-12 are referred to as 1-3. Gymnasium is not obligatory in Sweden, but nearly everyone attends gymnasium. A gymnasium student can choose to study a course plan based on a particular field, such as carpentry, car mechanics, or construction work. Gymnasium students can also orient their courses toward further study at the university level. Sweden has gymnasium schools for sport-oriented students, such as skiing or running. After gymnasium comes the university, teachers college, vocational schools or medical school.

Religion

Lutheran 87%, Roman Catholic, Orthodox, Baptist, Muslim, Jewish and Buddhist.

Languages

Mostly Swedish with small Sami and Finnish speaking minorities.

Natural Phenomena of Scandinavia

The most amazing natural phenomena in Scandinavia can be witnessed in the region of the Arctic circle, Iceland and Sweden.

The Northern Lights are probably the most famous natural occurrence in Scandinavia, the correct name is Aurora Borealis. We associate the Aurora Borealis with wintertime, although in reality they are present all the year round.

The Midnight Sun occurs in Scandinavia during the earlier summer months, (May, June and July) so it is great to experience.

Polar Nights do not mean spending countless months in darkness (Nov, Dec and Jan). Depending on the location of your destination, there may be a lot more light than you expect. Polar Nights often get more sunlight per year than other destinations.
